American Merchant Marine on High Seas Is at Last a Reality-Ships May Be Recalled to Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—To date the United States has sold through the shipping board 162 vessels of the large fiset built and acquired during the war. The government is now directing the operation through various shipping firms of the remainder of its enormous war merchant marine of approximately 1,675 vessels, principally sited cargo vessels, and there remain several hundred vessels move under contract or construction yet to be delivered to the United States shipping board. Pending definite action from congress on the disposal of this enormous fieet, America's first merchant marine in a century, the board is disposing of those sentury, the board is disposing of these vessels available for sale and for which treasonable price is offered. The re-nainder of the floot is being let to rivate operators on a percentage basis

From the 163 vessels sold to date the From the 163 vessels sold to date the government will receive a return of $82,424,408, many of them being old vessels acquired during the war, and lake steamers remodeled for coastwise and occan service in the emergency. Of the total sales to date, beginning sometime last summer, only 36 of the vessels were the new steel cargo type of ship constructed during the war, by the constructed during the war by the Emergency Fleet corporation. These is vessels alone brought $50,801,769 of the total sale returns. There are more than a thousand of these vessels yet to be disposed of or operated by the ship-ning hoard.

The remainder of the fleet sold to date consists of "old tonnage acquired by seizure and purchase, wrecked vessels, etc., sold 'as is' account of age and condition," of which there were 41, sels, ctc., sold as is account of age and condition." of which there were 41, principally reconstructed vessels taken off the lakes during the war, and which brought a return of $16,002,586. Eighteen wooden vessels were sold for a sum total of $8.681,352; 17 tugs bringing $1,817,000, and 41 barges bringing $1,828,700. Sales to date have also included ten of the wooden vessels built during the war, which brought a total return of $3,193,000. The sales of the steel vessels, it is pointed out by officials here, have thus far averaged over $216 per deadweight ton out of the 235,193 ton capacity of the 36 vessels sold, and it is predicted that the government will experience little difficulty in securing the return through sale of the millions spent in the construction of the fleet, in addition to having placed an American merchant marine again on the high seas.

"Should the warfare against the Bolshevists continue we look to Great Britain and France to see that the Bolshevist fleet is held harmless. The fleet can not attack before next May, and in the meantime we will take steps to improve our coastal defenses. In this respect we have had the best foreign advisers and are not in the least anxious. As regards the land defenses, there are more than a thousand kilometers of land frontier, extending from the coast to Lake Lodego, which is absolutely untravelable; there are no roads and vast forests. The territory the Bolshevists could cross if it were left defenseless is very small indeed. It is also worth while remembering that north of Lodego there are a few thousand Finnish volunteers who have crossed the frontier into Russian territory and are well able to hold their own.

"Thus the Finnish regular army would be needed only for garrison duty, with the exception of the two or three regiments sent to the Kareijan isthmus between Viborg and Petrograd. "Thus the Finnish regular army would be needed only for garrison duty, with the exception of the two or three regiments sent to the Karelian isthmus between Viborg and Petrograd. We would not have any difficulty in defending Finland against the Bolshevists, even thought they had an army of twice the present size.

"It must not be forgotten that in addition to the regular army we have the white guards, a volunteer organization of 110,000 men, under the command of Col. Essen. This gives a strong backing to the regular army and means that we are able to prevent any civil war and to resist the attempts of the Bolshevists to get control of the country.

"It is also worth while to remember

Why is a United States marine the only type of seafaring man in the world who never gets "sea legs".

Anyone else who "goes down to the sea in ships" can be identified by landsmen by his peculiar, rolling gait, caused, say experts, by life aboard a pitching, rolling wessel. But the marine who has just left a battleship that has bucked its way through storms for a month steps out ashore with the same erect, snappy carriage that he uses on a barracks parade ground.

First Sergt. Robinson of the local marine corps recruiting office has this to say about it: "In the first place, marines are soldlers, through and they do not want to be mistaken for anything else. Besides, marines seldom have flat feet, because they do not want to be mistaken for anything else. Besides, marines seldom have flat feet, because they do not go barefoot aboard ship. Also the marines high-neck uniforms keep their chins up and their chests out and make a "rolling" carriage impossible."

JONESBORO, Ark. Feb. 12. (Spl.)—
We have suffered from the fact that until we attained our independence we had no proper foreign representation and in too many cases had to use Swedish and German agents, who made huge profits. This year we have organized our own consular and diplomatto service which has been especially selected and instructed to see to our exports and establish markets. We expect that during jext year our exports will amount in vilue to over two mililons of marks. We have not been able this year to export our goods to any extent, these including a large quantity of sawn logs. We now have plenty of logs and wood pulp to supply to the United States as soon as we ean get shipping accommodations.

"Very little is known of Finland, especially in the United States, where, I understand, you have had but few of the best class settling. Still, it must be admitted that the Finns are a hardworking and saving race, and an asset to any country. We hope to make ourselves better known to America by our exuort—not of people, but of these necessities which America needs. We feel we owe a great debt to America and our thanks go out to Mr. Hoover and his staff for the great assistance they have given us, both in food and clothing four thanks are also due to the American relief administration and Hotel Wilson appealed to the internal revenue bureau to help recover a private stock of liquor owned by the guests. The liquor was stored in the basement of the hotel.

One of the guests who had several cases of choice whisky, went down for refreshment and opened a new case. He found someone had been there before him. Every case of liquor in the basement had been opened, the bottles taken out and bricks put in their place. The guests claim that they will abide by prohibition, but that drinking brick-dust highballs is asking too much. Chief Field Deputy W. J. Walker sent two men to investigate the case.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON,
NEW ORLEANS Feb. 12.—The trend was higher in the early trading in cotton today as the result of a much better Liverpool market than due and a wet weather map. Liverpool's imports for the day of 49.000 bales of American cotton aroused much comment. The market was moderately active from the opening and in the first half hour of trading prices gained 28 to 33 points.

March rising to 35.54c.

The market held steady throughout, the morning session, but after the first gains showed only narrow price movements. The advances was checked by the somewhat better weather outlook indicated in the official forecast for the belt and by the pessimistic view taken of foreign financial conditions in Washington dispatches. Toward noon the trading months were at net gains of 18 to 26 points.

Expectations of bullish week-end statistics and talk of large January consumption in this country in the report due Saturday from the census bureau brought in sufficient buying to support values and at 1 o'clock the market stood at net gains of 25 to 25 points.

This practically confirms preceding rumors of practically an import embargo and accounts for the action of Liverpool today. In view of the check to new importation, milis are anxious to secure cotton out of the Liverpool stock which causes the hardening of values there. However, this situation is subject to opposite interpretation of effect on our side.—Clark & Co.

DESTROYER SENT FOR YANK'S BODY ABROAD

MADRID, Feb. 11.—The arrival of the American destroyer Thornton to convey to the United States the body of Corp. Moran, killed when an American vessel was torpedeed off Corunna, in 1917, has created much interest in Spain.

"Le Voz de Galicia," of Corunna, in its comment. says: "This fine act of the United States in sending a vessel on such a long voyage to recover the bedy of an obscure soldier is worthy of high praise."

Lincoln's Legacy

LINCOLN'S richest legacy to his countrymen was his life. Today his splendid story is as full of inspiration as it was in the days gone by. In thinking of this man, this solitary figure in the history of our nation, one cannot help but be struck by the note of deep humanity which gave beauty and strength to his thoughts, words and deeds.

IN a period of collapse and destruction he was a I builder, and long before he was called to the position of leadership, Lincoln, the boy and the young man, through the rigid practice of industry, thrift and self denial was fitting himself for the part.

INCOLN was sparing of words as well as of money. L. He appreciated the dignity and independence to be gained from an income honestly carned. He practiced economy himself and counseled the country to savenot for the sake of money, but for the things that money can do.

> IS counsel is as wise, as necessary, as urgent today as when it first was given. We urge you to save and we place our facilities
